

Juno Mother Earth Asset Management is approved by the SEC

New York, November 12, 2007

Juno Mother Earth Asset Management announced that its registration with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) became effective November 5, 2007. The mission of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission is to protect investors, maintain fair, orderly, and efficient markets, and facilitate capital formation. During the peak year of the Depression, Congress passed the Securities Act of 1933. This law, together with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, which created the SEC, was designed to restore investor confidence in our capital markets by providing investors and the markets with more reliable information and clear rules of honest dealing.

“We are very pleased with the SEC’s decision to accept our application and look forward to reinforcing our commitment to investors with regard to disclosure and accountability as well as continuously pursuing our goal of providing high standards of financial reporting and transparency”, said Eugenio Verzili, Managing Partner of Juno Mother Earth Asset Management. “It is vital for us as fund managers to focus our attention on producing risk adjusted returns in line with our investors expectations within a professional and transparent environment”, added Verzili.

Juno Mother Earth Asset Management is an SEC registered international hedge fund management firm specializing exclusively in commodities, energy and natural resources, focusing on clean technology, new energy, and the food-fiber bio fuels group of agro commodities. The group manages assets for private banks, family offices, pension plans, foundations, endowments, and high net worth investors globally. Juno Mother Earth Asset Management, through sound and ethical portfolio management practices as well as focused and dedicated investor support, is a leader in the management of funds that provide superior long-term risk-adjusted capital growth through investments in key sectors of the commodities space.

The group pursues an advanced leading role, firstly towards full appreciation of what is called the commodities super cycle, full understanding of the sharp rise in world liquidity in part due to the super cycle, and the many opportunities of placing assets in selected commodity-related equities. This applies both on a shorter-term and longer-term basis.

For further information please contact Juno Mother Earth Asset Management: 212.893.1160 or info@junomotherearth.com.